Pass lush, green landscapes, and bright colored houses before reaching the the mountain community of Las Terrazas, which was built as a reforestation project in the 1960's. The inhabitants here live off eco-tourism and the benefit from a lavish paradise rich in flora and fauna. On arrival, visit a 19th century coffee plantation and enjoy lunch at an authentic Cuban Paladar.

OPTION 2: VINALES

The instant you see a cigar touting guajiro working the red soiled fields of a tobacco field, you know you must be close to the town of Vinales. On a Vinales Day tour you will depart from Marina Hemingway at 8:00 in the morning. The scenic drive along the "Ruta del Tobaco" will pass through the lush surroundings of the Pinar del Rio Province.You'll be swept away by the stunning views of the Mogote valley, famous for its pin-cushion shaped hills, tobacco fields and green vegetation. Upon arriving in Vinales, you will be greeted by hospitable locals with a wonderful vibe that is unique to the township. Enjoy lunch at an authentic Cuba Paladar (family-run restaurant) where you can sit back and relax. In the afternoon there is the opportunity to visit a Tobacco farm and watch a cigar rolling demonstration.

OPTION 3: HEMINGWAY'S CUBA

Hemingway lived in Cuba on and off for 20 years. His house, "Finca Vigia," was where he wrote his novel "The Old Man and the Sea," for which he received the Pulitzer Prize in 1953. A year later he was awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature for his body of work. When receiving the Prize, Hemingway declared that the prize belonged not to him, but to Cuba and gifted the medal to Cuba upon receiving it. The excursion starts at 9:00 in the morning with a drive to "La Finca Vigía", the former residence of Hemingway. Next stop is Cojimar (14km from Havana), where Hemingway was inspired to write "The Old Man and the Sea". A walking tour takes you to Hemingway's statue, made from old anchors, props, and tools salvaged by local fishermen to cast Hemingway's statue. Here, you'll visit the restaurant Las Terrazas, the preferred Cojimar hangout of the author and the late Captain of his boat (Pilar); Gregorio Fuentes (cocktail and lunch included). From here, return to the capital to follow Hemingway's trail in Old Havana, having a peek at room 511 in Hotel Ambos Mundos where Hemingway used to stay in the 1930's. Breathe the atmosphere of those days in the restaurant-bars, "la Bodeguita del Medio" and "Floridita." The former is famous for its superb mojitos, the latter for its Daiquiris.
